Description:

- I started using React Native, Redux, Thunk middleware, and JavaScript to develop robust and scalable mobile apps. So far, I've successfully delivered two or more applications with a range of features.
- Additionally, I enhanced user engagement by adding a push notifications feature to provide real-time updates in the applications.
- To provide the app security and improve user experience, I took steps to prevent users from recording screens or taking Screenshots of screens that contain sensitive information. These measures contribute to a safer and more user-friendly environment for the applications.
